THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

August 24, 2005

I send greetings to teachers and students across America observing Veterans Day.

Throughout our Nation's history, millions of citizens have risked their lives while serving in military conflicts around the globe. Each has answered a great call and demonstrated personal courage, love of country, and devotion to duty. Our veterans give us an example of idealism and character that makes every American proud, and we will always be grateful for their selfless dedication. These patriots hold a cherished place in our history.

Today, as we wage the war on terror and work to extend peace and freedom around the world, we commend the men and women who follow in the footsteps of our veterans. Like generations before them, America's Armed Forces are responding to today's dangers and challenges with firm resolve. Their vital mission helps secure our Nation, and all Americans are grateful for their service and sacrifice.

Mrs. Bush and I thank all those observing Veterans Day. We encourage students to learn more about America, the heroes who defended our country, and those who continue to do so today. By studying our Nation's history, you can take pride in our country and carry our heritage of freedom into the future. On Veterans Day, and in the days ahead, we ask every American to find a way to thank the men and women defending our freedom. By flying a flag, thanking a veteran, or expressing gratitude to family members of our troops, you can show your support. For more information about efforts in your community, visit www.americasupportsyou.mil.

We send our best wishes for a memorable Veterans Day observance. May God bless you, and may God continue to bless America.

Dear Principal:

On Veterans Day, November 11th, the country will recognize America's 25 million living veterans. This is a time for us to pause and reflect upon the sacrifices of our Nation's military veterans, past and present. It is a time not only to recognize them with public ceremonies, but also to seek them out, thank them, and learn from them.

As citizens, we have a responsibility to educate our young people on the contributions veterans have made throughout the years. To help your students gain an appreciation for what America's veterans have done, I have enclosed a CD that features actress/entertainer Jennifer Love Hewitt highlighting youth volunteer opportunities with VA's Voluntary Service, a production segment of "The American Veteran," and a special tribute to VA's National Rehabilitation Special Events.

The CD also contains this year's Veterans Day poster and Teachers Resource Guide. The guide provides information and ideas for your faculty to use in their classrooms as they teach students the true meaning of Veterans Day. For more information, please visit our website at <http://www.va.gov/vetsday>.

This year, the Department of Veterans Affairs is observing its 75th anniversary of service to veterans and I encourage you to plan an active Veterans Day program in your school and to encourage your students to participate in their community's observance of Veterans Day to show all who served that a grateful Nation remembers.

Thank you for honoring veterans on this special day.

Sincerely yours,

R. James Nicholson

Teachers Resources

THE SCHOOL ASSEMBLY:

Because the weather can be quite cold in November in many parts of the country, an indoor assembly is far more sensible than one that would take place outside, eliminating the need to have foul weather contingency plans.

The scope of such a program may be large enough to permit invitations to the community-at-large, to include local veterans groups. Students can be encouraged to bring family members that are veterans (especially grandparents) or those that are currently in the Armed Forces.

Inviting local veterans groups:

Inviting local veterans groups can make assembly programs far more exciting and meaningful for students. Students tend to better understand and absorb the significance of Veterans Day when they can attach a human face to it.

In addition, veterans groups often put on very exciting shows. From stirring renditions of the National Anthem and Taps to thrilling speeches and stories, veterans, as guests, will both entertain and educate students with enthusiasm.

Veterans groups in your area can be found through your local veterans service organization chapters and VA hospitals. You might be surprised at how many veterans live in your area. Schools that send out invitations often end up with former generals and admirals, Medal of Honor recipients and other distinguished guests coming to speak.

Program Guide:

Undoubtedly, your school will want to put on a program worthy of all these distinguished guests. The following are some suggestions and a sample program guide that will make this Veterans Day memorable for both students and special guests:

Prelude and Posting of Colors – As the audience enters to be seated, a school or community musical organization may offer several appropriate selections. A procession and posting of the Nation's colors (the American flag) is always a stirring event.

Local veterans service organizations often participate in such programs with their impressive array of military banners and American flags.

Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and singing of the National Anthem – The program chairperson, school principal or student body president, should invite the audience to stand and join in the Pledge of Allegiance and the National Anthem.

Introductory Remarks – Brief introductory remarks set the tone for the program. Consider reading the President's Veterans Day Proclamation, which the White House issues and posts on the Internet shortly before Veterans Day. For more information, go to the web site at www.whitehouse.gov.

Additional remarks and suitable quotations for speeches can be found on the Veterans Day web page or use any of the quotes featured in this guide.

Classroom Activity Guide

Introduction of Guests – Introduce any special guests, which might include local government officials, school alumni with distinguished military service, veterans from the community who represent different periods of service and faculty members who are veterans.

Principle Speaker – Your principle speaker should be invited far enough in advance to allow adequate preparation for your program.

Special Musical Selection – A band or choral group could offer one of the more impressive patriotic selections available.

Student Essay or Reading – By including various presentations by individual pupils in school programs, student body participation may be increased. Selected essays from class or school-wide competitions may be offered by the student-author. A reading of a well-known patriotic address by an American President or military hero is also effective. There are a number of published musicals/narratives which can enhance your program. A short play or skit performed by the younger students can be exciting as well. One such play is included in the section for younger students.

Moment of Silence, Taps – While Veterans Day is primarily a tribute to America's living veterans, and is typically observed more as a celebration than as a somber remembrance (Memorial Day), it is always appropriate to include a moment of respect for those who gave their lives for their country. The signing of the World War I Armistice took place in a railway coach near the battle zone in France. The bugles sounded cease fire and the hostilities ended, marking a most significant moment in world history. Although 11:00 a.m. remains a traditional hour for this type of tribute, a moment of silence is appropriate at any point in the program. This may be followed by a rendition of "Taps." For more information on the history of Taps please visit www.tapsbugler.com.

Closing – The Master of Ceremonies announces "Retire the Colors." Accompanied by appropriate music, such as a John Philip Sousa march, the Colors are paraded out of the assembly area. This concludes the ceremony.

CLASSROOM ACTIVITY GUIDE:

School Newspaper

Veterans Day stories can be featured in school publications. Publish a roster of faculty members who are veterans. Describe Veterans Day activities being held in classrooms throughout the school.

Poster Contest

The creative talents of students can be encouraged through participation in a school-wide Veterans Day poster contest. Winners should be appropriately recognized and awarded certificates. Local newspapers should be invited to photograph the winning entries.

the Veterans Day web page:

Envelopes sent to medical centers should be addressed to "Voluntary Service Director" and those sent to veterans homes should be addressed to "Administrator."

Musical Program

Veterans Day offers an excellent opportunity for school or community musical organizations to display their talents. A mid-day concert at the school or at a central location in the community may be especially dedicated to Veterans Day.

An innovative program might include selections known to have been popular during America's wars.

Library Activities

School or community libraries can prepare lists of recommended reading material suitable for Veterans Day. An appropriate display of book jackets or a special shelf containing selected publications can be used to call attention to the project. For more ideas, go to the Library of Congress web site for children at <http://www.americaslibrary.gov>.

Football Games

Veterans Day is observed at the time of year when schools and clubs are engaged in the football season. The presentation of the colors and playing of the National Anthem may be keyed to Veterans Day by an appropriate public address announcement. Halftime presentations by school bands afford an ideal opportunity to offer special patriotic selections and marching routines. Card section displays may also be used to spell out phrases such as "Thank You Veterans" or "Veterans Day" in stadium stands to visually recognize those who served in the military.

Flag-Raising Ceremony

Weather permitting, outdoor flag-raising ceremonies highlight an activity that occurs daily at many schools, but often goes unnoticed. Such a ceremony, although brief, should include the Pledge of Allegiance and the playing of the National Anthem. A special guest may be invited to participate.

Messages for Veterans

One of the most personal and meaningful Veterans Day activities for students is to send notes or cards to hospitalized veterans or those living in veterans homes. Students can design and send individual notes or cards or work together as a group to send an oversized card or poster signed by all of the students in a class. The cards and posters can then be mailed in one large envelope to the nearest VA medical center or state veterans home.

Addresses for state veterans homes and VA medical centers in your area can be found in the blue government pages of the telephone book.

There also is a link to the VA facility locator on

School Cafeteria Activities

Patriotic decorations in school dining areas add a colorful reminder of Veterans Day. One could create special menu items such as decorated cupcakes or cookies. Download VA's Veterans Day 2005 poster from the web site for placement in the cafeteria, in classrooms and on school bulletin boards.

Writing Assignments

Veterans Day themes can be included in writing assignments. Assign students to write about accounts of military service told by local veterans. Assign students to investigate the various benefits offered to veterans by government agencies. Write about veterans who are receiving educational benefits from the Department of Veterans Affairs. Describe various veterans memorials which may be located nearby.

Uniforms and Emblems

The colorful and varied uniforms and emblems worn by members of the Armed Forces throughout our history offer students of all ages ideal subjects to draw and paint. Elementary school children enjoy opportunities to create and exhibit costume items. Making colored construction paper hats representing various military eras is a modest and effective way of gaining the interest of students in Veterans Day subjects. The official emblems and seals of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Coast Guard can be portrayed by students in a variety of methods, such as mosaics, applique, decoupage, as well as the traditional painting and drawing approaches.

Movies and Documentaries

To introduce students to a particular war or period of service, show appropriately rated movies and documentaries as a starting point to discuss the history, politics and meaning behind each war. Consider bringing a veteran into the classroom to discuss his or her personal experience in service and how it compares to the movies.

Department of Veterans Affairs

Local VA facilities – medical centers, regional benefits offices and national cemeteries can serve as sources of information and speakers for Veterans Day programs. They can also provide contact with local veterans service organizations and arrange visits, tours and other special programs for students.

To contact your local VA facilities, look under Department of Veterans Affairs in the federal government listings in the local telephone directory.

Patriotic Groups

Local veterans, historical or other patriotic organizations may enliven Veterans Day programs by providing period-uniformed flag bearers, fife and drum corps, and other marching and musical units. These organizations may also provide speakers with unique military experiences to share. One of the most popular activities among students is to meet with local veterans during an assembly or in individual classrooms to hear veterans share their experiences and answer questions. The veterans can be relatives of students or members of local veterans service organizations.

Students' Relatives

Ask students to research and list all their known relatives who have served in the Armed Forces. With more than 30 percent of the United States population consisting of veterans, their dependents and survivors, students may tap into a rich history going back as far as the Revolutionary and Civil War.

Plays and Skits

A short dramatic scene can make Veterans Day meaningful for students by providing an opportunity to perform historical research and use creativity to express their feelings about veterans. The script for a play written for elementary school students to perform can be found on page 25 of this guide.

The following sections provide hand-outs and fun games for students, which will help them better understand and appreciate Veterans Day. Please select hand-outs that are appropriate for the grade level of your students and feel free to reproduce the following pages as necessary.

"A SOLDIER KNOWN BUT TO GOD"

In 1921, an American soldier—his name “known but to God”—was buried on a Virginia hillside overlooking the Potomac River and the city of Washington, DC. The burial site of this unknown World War I soldier in Arlington National Cemetery symbolized dignity and reverence for America’s veterans.

Similar ceremonies occurred earlier in England and France, where an “unknown soldier” of the Great War was buried in each nation’s highest place of honor (in England, Westminster Abbey; in France, the Arc de Triomphe).

These memorial gestures all took place on November 11, giving universal recognition to the celebrated ending of World War I hostilities at 11 a.m., November 11, 1918 (the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month). The day became known as “Armistice Day.”

Armistice Day officially received its name in America in 1926 through a Congressional resolution. It became a national holiday 12 years later by similar Congressional action. If World War I had indeed been “the war to end all wars,” November 11 might still be called Armistice Day. But in 1939, World War II broke out in Europe and shattered that dream. Of the 16 million Americans who served in the Armed Forces during World War II, more than 400,000 died.

“TO HONOR VETERANS OF ALL WARS”

Raymond Weeks of Birmingham, Alabama, organized a Veterans Day parade for that city on November 11, 1947, to honor all of America's veterans for their loyal service. Later, U.S. Representative Edward H. Rees of Kansas proposed legislation changing the name of Armistice Day to Veterans Day to honor all those who have served America in all wars.

In 1954, President Eisenhower signed a bill proclaiming November 11th as Veterans Day and called upon Americans everywhere to rededicate themselves to the cause of peace. He issued a Presidential Order directing the head of the Veterans Administration, now the Department of Veterans Affairs, to form a Veterans Day National Committee to organize and oversee the national observance of Veterans Day. In addition to fulfilling that mission, the committee oversees the annual production and distribution of the Veterans Day Poster and this Veterans Day Teachers Resource Guide.

In 1968, Congress moved Veterans Day to the fourth Monday in October. However, it became apparent that the November 11th date was historically significant to a great many Americans. As a result, Congress formally returned the observance of Veterans Day to its traditional date in 1978.

The Veterans Day National Ceremony is held each year on November 11th at Arlington National Cemetery. At 11 a.m., a color guard, made up of members from each of the military services, renders honors to America's war dead during a tradition-rich ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknowns.

The President or his representative places a wreath at the Tomb and a bugler sounds “Taps.” The balance of the ceremony, including a “Parade of Flags” by numerous veterans service organizations, takes place inside the Memorial Amphitheater, adjacent to the Tomb.

In addition to planning and coordinating the National Veterans Day Ceremony, the Veterans Day National Committee supports a number of Veterans Day Regional Sites. These sites conduct Veterans Day celebrations that provide excellent examples for other communities to follow.

Congress formally returned the observance of Veterans Day to its traditional date in

During the 1928 national elections, Herbert Hoover told voters: "We in America today are nearer to the final triumph over poverty than ever before in the history of any land."

Hoover won in a landslide, but ironically the Great Depression came soon after and Hoover was under tremendous pressure to relieve the economic slump. On April 20, 1929, less than two months after his inauguration, he received a letter from General Frank T. Hines, the director of the Veterans' Bureau, suggesting the consolidation of all federal veterans' activities into one agency. This would improve government efficiency and help relieve financial pressure resulting from the Depression.

In Hoover's December 1929 State of the Union address, he explained: "I am convinced that we will gain in efficiency, economy, and more uniform administration and better definition of national policies if the Pension Bureau, the National Home for Volunteer Soldiers, and the Veterans' Bureau are brought together under a single agency." The Veterans' Administration (VA) became a new independent agency on July 21, 1930, with Hoover's signing of Executive Order 5398, "Consolidation and Coordination of Governmental Activities Affecting Veterans."

President Hoover regarded caring for veterans as one of the most important functions of government. "The consolidated budget of these services for the present fiscal year amounts to approximately $800 million, so that the new establishment (VA) becomes one of the most important functions in the government," the president said.

In 1930, there were 4.7 million veterans in America. VA operated 54 hospitals and 54 regional offices with a work force of more than 30,000 and a $786 million budget. VA treated 54,000 veteran patients and paid $208 million in compensation to 440,000 service-disabled veterans or dependents.

This year, the Department of Veterans Affairs celebrates its 75th anniversary of service to military veterans and their families. Today there are 25 million veterans in America. VA operates more than 1,300 sites of care, including medical centers, clinics, nursing homes, Vet Centers, regional offices and national cemeteries with a staff of 235,000 and a nearly $70 billion dollar budget.

The Nike swoosh and McDonalds golden arches – corporate America calls them logos – are symbols that automatically identify a business in the public mind. They are closely guarded and protected and worth millions of dollars. Symbols are just as important to government agencies. A Federal agency's official seal, for example, carries the full weight and impact of the laws, resources and responsibilities vested in it by the American people.

VA's current seal dates back to 1989 when the then Veterans Administration, an independent agency of the Federal government, became a Cabinet member agency (now the Department of Veterans Affairs). This brought many changes to VA, including a new VA seal.

The reproduction and use of the VA seal is specified by law (38 CFR 1.9). It is reserved for limited use as the symbol of governmental authority invested by the Department. The seal identifies all official documents, certifications, awards, publications, regulations and reports.

A design submitted by David Gregory, a medical media production specialist working at the Indianapolis VA Medical Center was chosen. He focused on traditional American symbols and his own innovative symbolism to visually convey VA's special mission.

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Important Things to Remember

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag should be rendered by standing at attention facing the flag with the right hand over the heart. If not in uniform, a person should remove his or her hat with the right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, with the hand over the heart. Persons in uniform should remain silent, face the flag, and render the military salute.

Display the U.S. flag every day, but especially on national and state holidays. On Memorial Day, the flag should be flown at half-staff in the forenoon (sunrise until noon), then raised to its normal position at the top of the staff. When raising the flag to half-staff, first raise it to the top of the staff, then lower it half-way. When lowering a flag that has been flying at half-staff, first raise it to the top of the staff, then lower it all the way. The U.S. flag should be displayed on or near the main building of every public institution, in or near every school on school days, and in or near every polling place on election days. Always hoist the U.S. flag briskly. Lower it slowly and ceremoniously.

Things Not to Do

Never show disrespect to the U.S. flag. Never dip (lower quickly and then raise) the U.S. flag to any person or thing. Regimental colors, state flags and organization or institutional flags are dipped as a mark of honor. Never display the U.S. flag with the field of stars at the bottom, except as a distress signal. Never let the U.S. flag touch anything beneath it — ground, floor, water or merchandise. Never carry the U.S. flag horizontally, but always aloft and free.

Always allow the U.S. flag to fall free — never use the U.S. flag as drapery, festooned, drawn back or up in folds. For draping platforms and decoration in general, use blue, white and red bunting. Always arrange the bunting with blue above, the white in the middle and the red below. Never fasten, display, use or store the U.S. flag in a manner that will permit it to be easily torn, soiled or damaged in any way. Never use the U.S. flag as a covering or drape for a ceiling. Never place anything on the U.S. flag and never have placed upon it, or on any part of it, or attached to it, any mark, insignia, letter, word, figure, design, picture or drawing of any nature.

The U.S. flag should not be embroidered on such articles as cushions, handkerchiefs, and the like; printed or otherwise impressed on paper napkins or boxes or anything that is designed for temporary use and discard; or used as any portion of a costume or athletic uniform. However, a flag patch may be affixed to the uniform of military personnel, fire fighters, police officers and members of patriotic organizations. Advertising signs should not be fastened to a staff from which the flag is flown.

Many Marines gave their lives to raise the American flag on Mt. Suribachi on the island of Iwo Jima in 1945. Based on a photograph by Joseph Rosenthal, the Iwo Jima Memorial depicts this sacrifice. Located by Arlington National Cemetery, is a tribute to all the Marines who have fallen in combat.

(a) Fold the lower striped section of the flag over the blue field.

(b) Folded edge is then folded over to meet the open edge.

(c) A triangular fold is then started by bringing the striped corner of the folded edge to the open edge.

(d) Outer point is then turned inward parallel with the open edge to form a second triangle.

(e) Triangular folding is continued until the entire length of the flag is folded in the triangular shape with only the blue field visible.

When the U.S. flag is no longer in suitable condition for display, it should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning. Many veterans groups perform this service with dignified, respectful flag retirement ceremonies.

Hi! I'm Tags the Dog. I'm a guard dog at Arlington National Cemetery. Usually it's pretty quiet around here, since it's a cemetery, but on November 11th, 40,000 people visit for the Veterans Day celebrations.

I can't wait for Veterans Day. I will meet the President, our courageous men and women in the Armed Forces and many brave veterans. Veterans Day is a very exciting and important day. There is so much to do and learn to get ready for Veterans Day!

Have you ever met a veteran?

A veteran is a man or woman who has served in the military, in peacetime or fought in a war. Veterans work to protect us and our freedom.

I meet many veterans here at Arlington National Cemetery. I bet you have met a few as well. Maybe you have a parent or grandparent who is a veteran or an aunt, uncle, sister or brother.

I made a list of some of the people I know who are veterans and you could too.

1) Roald Dahl

- Dahl was a fighter pilot in WWII. After the war he wrote many famous books, such as Charlie and The Chocolate Factory.

2) Elvis Presley

- Drafted into the Army in 1958, in the middle of his singing career, Elvis served two years in Europe.

3) Dr. Seuss

I told my friends Fiddo and Fluffy about veterans. We wanted everyone to learn about veterans, so we put on a play for their class.

INTRODUCTION: The following is a presentation set in a school library where fifth grade students have been sent to do a research project on veterans and the Veterans Day holiday.

SETTING: Table in Media Center

Student 1: Hey, did you bring your markers and paper?

Student 2: Yes. I have everything we'll need for our pictures and drawings.

Student 1: What are we going to draw?

Student 2: Silly! You know we're here to research veterans and the Veterans Day Holiday on November 11th.

Student 3: How do I draw a veteran? I don't even know what it is.

Student 4: A veteran is a "who" and not a "what." You'd better start by going to the dictionary and looking up the definition of a "veteran."

Student 3: What do you mean a veteran is a who?

Student 1: Go look it up! We can use the definition in our project!

Student 3: Is a veteran a person?

Student 2: Go look it up in the dictionary!

Student 3: All right! All right! (Student 3 pages through dictionary.) Here it is, "A veteran is a person who has served in the armed forces, an experienced soldier, especially one who served in time of war. Veterans Day is a legal holiday in the United States honoring all veterans of the armed forces."

Student 1: See, a veteran isn't a "what," it's a person who died for our country. They're the ones that get flags put on their graves on holidays.

Student 4: No! No! No! A veteran isn't always someone who died in a war, or who even fought in a war at all.

Student 3: She's right. A veteran is a man who has served in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, or Air Force.

Student 4: Well, you're half right.

Student 2: What do you mean I'm "half right"?

Student 4: Well, women can be veterans too. Many women have served our country in the Armed Forces in times of peace and in times of war. Women can be veterans too.

Student 3: You mean a veteran doesn't have to have been in a war?

Student 1: No. Just having been in the Armed Forces makes a person a veteran.

Student 2: Wow! Veterans are really special people aren't they? I mean, if a person is in the Armed Forces and we have a war, then they have to go. Right?

Student 4: No, not really. Veterans are people who have already served, but are no longer in the Armed Forces of our country. My grandfather is a veteran. He was in the Korean War, and my uncle Jake is a veteran too because he was in the Navy.

Student 3: You know, veterans really are special people and they deserve to be honored with a holiday.

Student 1: There are a lot of patriotic songs that honor veterans and our country. Maybe we could include a song with our project.

Student 2: I think there's a song book over here that has all the words to patriotic songs.

Student 4: Great! Let's pick out one that everybody can sing along with.

Student 3: Veterans Day would be a good time to remember and to thank veterans for all they have done for us and for our country.

Finale: A patriotic song, such as The National Anthem, God Bless America, America the Beautiful, or God Bless the U.S.A., is performed by the actors or an assembled group of students. The rest of the students also may be encouraged to sing along.

Veterans Day takes place on the 11th of November every year. Veterans Day is celebrated all over the country with parades and celebrations. One big national celebration takes place at Arlington National Cemetery. During this celebration, the President of the United States places a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknowns. After this, a bugler sounds "Taps" which is followed by a parade that includes many veterans groups. Veterans day takes place on the 11th because in 1918 at 11 a.m. World War I ended. That was the 11th hour, of the 11th day of the 11th month. That day became known as Armistice Day but the peace did not last and a second World War broke out.

The first Veterans Day parade was held in 1947. A man named Raymond Weeks helped to organize it in Birmingham, Alabama in order to honor "All of America's veterans for their loyal service." Then in 1954, President Eisenhower made Veterans Day a national celebration and so now every year on the 11th hour, of the 11th day, of the 11th month, the President places a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery, where he honors all Americans who have fought and died to serve our country!

In 1921, after the end of World War I, an American soldier was buried on a Virginia hillside overlooking the Potomac River and the city of Washington, D.C. He was given a big funeral and buried in a large marble tomb, but he wasn't a famous man, his name was "known but to God." He fought bravely in World War I, but when he died no one could figure out who he was. He was buried in Arlington National Cemetery as a symbol for all those who lost family members in the war and were unable to bury their loved ones. His tomb now symbolizes our dignity and reverence for all America's veterans.

Help Tags the dog get back to Arlington National Cemetery before 11:00 am. He better hurry the ceremony starts soon!

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Respecting The Flag

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag should be given by standing at attention facing the flag with the right hand over the heart.

When raising the flag to half-staff, first raise it to the top of the staff, then lower it half-way. When lowering a flag that has been flying at half-staff, first raise it to the top of the staff, then lower it all the way. Display the U.S. flag every day, but especially on national and state holidays.

On Memorial Day, the flag should be flown at half-staff from sunrise until noon. Always hoist the U.S. flag briskly. Lower it slowly and ceremoniously.

The U.S. flag should be displayed on or near the main building of every public institution, in or near every school on school days, and in or near every polling place on election days.

Never show disrespect to the U.S. flag, place anything on it, draw on it or use it as anything but as a flag. Never display the U.S. flag with the stars at the bottom, except as a distress signal.

When the U.S. flag is no longer in suitable condition for display, it should be destroyed in a dignified way. Many veterans groups perform this service with dignified, respectful flag retirement ceremonies.

(a) Fold the lower striped section of the flag over the blue field.

(b) Folded edge is then folded over to meet the open edge.

(c) A triangular fold is then started by bringing the striped corner of the folded edge to the open edge.

(d) Outer point is then turned inward parallel with the open edge to form a second triangle.

(e) Triangular folding is continued until the entire length of the flag is folded in the triangular shape with only the blue field visible.

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) National Rehabilitation Special Events promote the healing of body and spirit. They motivate eligible veterans to reach their full potential, improve their independence, achieve a healthier lifestyle and enjoy a higher quality of life.

Each year VA sponsors four national events for U.S. military veterans served by VA medical facilities nationwide. Each program enhances physical, social and emotional well-being of veterans who participate. Veterans involved in these events and the hundreds of VA employees and volunteers who support them each year all share a strong sense of purpose and camaraderie.

The four special events are the National Disabled Veterans Winter Sports Clinic, National Veterans Wheelchair Games, National Veterans Golden Age Games and the National Veterans Creative Arts Festival. To learn more about how to get involved, please log onto:

"The Winter Sports Clinic has made a big difference in my life. I believe that there is life after an injury, and the Clinic teaches you to adapt to your disability and to believe in yourself. I enjoy sharing with newly injured veterans what is possible."

The Purple Heart is an American decoration—the oldest military decoration in the world in present use. It was the first American award made available to the common soldier. General George Washington initially created the medal when it was called the Badge of Military Merit.

The Purple Heart is awarded to members of the Armed Forces of the U.S. who are wounded by an instrument of war in the hands of the enemy. It is presented to the next of kin in the name of those who are killed in action or die as a result of wounds received in combat. It is specifically a combat decoration.

The Seal of the Department of Veterans Affairs

The Nike swoosh and McDonald's golden arches are both corporate America logos. A logo is a symbol that identifies a business. They are closely guarded and protected. They are worth millions of dollars. Symbols are just as important to government agencies. VA's seal was made in 1989 by David Gregory of Indianapolis. He focused on traditional American symbols.

The two flags in the eagle's talons symbolize America's history from the thirteen colonies to the present fifty states. A golden cord, symbolic of those Americans who have fallen in service to their country, binds the flags. The cord is also held by the eagle to perpetuate the memory of those veterans who have sacrificed for our Nation. The seal's colors are derived from the American flag and the natural colors of the earth, representing our Nation's commitment to its veterans.
